The intersection of STUNNING + SUSTAINABLE

GreenPoint Rated Homes
Assurance of a better place to live.

GreenPoint Rated certifies that a home was built or remodeled to trusted environmental standards. And since these homes are built to last, they save you money on utilities, maintenance, and repairs.
GreenPoint Rated.
Your assurance of a better place to live.

The rewards of a green home are real. Green homes emphasize quality construction, beauty, comfort, and health — the health of people as well as the health of the planet.

With over 65,000 rated homes in California, GreenPoint Rated is the most trusted certification for green homes. It provides quantified information on savings for energy, water, waste, and greenhouse gas emissions. Plus, it’s administered by Build It Green, an independent, non-profit organization.

When you’re looking to buy a green home, look for the GreenPoint Rated label — proof that a home is truly healthier, more energy efficient and comfortable.

“Your family loves our GreenPoint Rated home. It’s very comfortable, and it assures us that we are living in a healthier home and meeting our personal goals to use less energy, materials, and water.”
